

Warren has traced his family back to William Aldred who was born 1709, died 1779 and is buried at Cross Street Chapel, Salford, Lancashire, England. Warren's ancestor, William Aldred, came to America in 1794. The most exciting news is that his ancestors never stepped foot in North Carolina, yet his DNA is a perfect match to Group 2 of our study!!	Warren Aldred	R1b1	13	24	14	11	11	14	12	12	11	14	13	30	18	9	10	11	11	25	15	19	28	15

Paper documentation shows he is a descendant of Thomas, but the DNA does not match! By recruiting other cousins to take the DNA test, Daniel was able to figure out where the "mystery" child entered his family tree. Daniel's great-grandmother had been married twice and the 2nd husband, an Allred, raised the children of that first marriage as his own.	Daniel B Allred	R1a	13	25	14	11	11	14	12	12	10	14	11	31
Tony descends from the Northumberland County, Virginia Aldridge / Alldrige family

which, for many years, many researchers thought the Allred family was descended from. Tony's DNA results prove that Alldridge and Allred are two completely different families - unrelated to each other
